Local Groups Ask U. S. Probe Of Roll Purge

Church And Labor Organizations Behind Requests

The current purge of voter registrations in Ouachita parish Friday drew prepared statements from representatives of two Monroe-West Monroe church groups, a labor union, and the League of Women Voters of Monroe.

Two of the statements call for an immediate investigation by the Attorney General of the United States of the purge to determine if wrongful acts have occurred.

Twelve members of the Twin-City Ministerial Association and seven members of the executive board of the United Council of Church Women were reported to have conferred to draw up the statement, which was to accompany a letter of request to the Attorney General.

The statement, which was released with the stipulation that "this is for release with the stipulation and understanding that it must be used verbatim and in it's entirety," follows:

"As leaders of churches in the city of Monroe, interested in the welfare of all people, we cannot ignore or be indifferent to the present situation of confusion and agitation which exists relative to the wide-spread challenge of citizens' right to vote.

"We do not wish to be aligned with or against any political or pseudo-political grouup or organi-

Request Of Probe Too Late, Replies Head Of Council

RAYVILLE, May 4 —Proposals from several Monroe groups asking for an investigation of the voter registration dispute in Ouachita parish by the U.S. attorney general, brought a reply from the head of the Ouachita Citizens Council, that "It's a little bit late to call on Brownell to send investigators."

Behind this statement was Billye Adams, president of the Citizens Council of Ouachita Parish, Inc., who was one of the featured speakers at the organizational meeting of the Richland Parish Citizens Council here tonight.

Adams said, "It's a little bit late to call on Brownell to send investigators. There have been three already, and will be one any time a Negro is pinched."

He said the council will continue to purge the registration rolls of Ouachita parish before and after the election, and that "the council will remain neutral in the hot political situation."

Key speaker at the organizational meeting held in the auditorium of the Rayville Grammar School was Dr. W. M. Caskey, professor of political science at Mississippi State College, a Baptist institution located at Clinton, Miss.

Caskey said, "Segregation is the Christian way. .Negro leaders are fighting tooth and nail for integra-

Contract Ends Long Dispute At Atomic Facility

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 4 (AP)—About 4,500 union production workers at two Oak Ridge atomic plants today signed a three-year contract, embodying an improved vacation plan and a wage increase, to end a 7-month-long dispute. There had been no work stoppage.

The contract, which runs to Oct. 15, 1958, is retroactive to last Oct. 15, and calls for three-week vacations yearly for workers with 10 years' seniority or more. This was recommended today by a presidential labor panel, and accepted by both the Atomic Trades and Labor Council and Union Carbide Nuclear Co.

About 500 workers are eligible for the three-week vacations, previously restricted to those with at least 15-years' seniority.

The council represents the workers involved. Carbide operates the two plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, under a cost-plus arrangement whereby wage increases are passed along to the government.

Eisenhower Denounces Democrat Farm Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 4—UP—President Eisenhower Friday denounced the new Democratic farm bill as "bad" legislation. But he refused to say whether he would veto the measure if it reaches his desk in its present form.

Concentrating his fire on a provision to raise government support prices on feed grains, the President told his news conference the bill would force Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson "to establish a bureaucracy much bigger than the very large one he already has."

"So this is one of those things that looks to me administratively difficult," Mr. Eisenhower said, "and for that reason is is bad. Now, as to what exact language I could live with, why, I would have to see it (the bill) after it gets to me."

The President emphasized that he had not seen the specific language of the new bill which passed the House Thursday by a lop-sided margin of 314 to 78. But he noted that he vetoed the original farm bill because it was "clumsy and awkward."

Meantime, Benson told his own news conference the bill is "much improved" over the original measure but that two features are "objectionable" and should be eliminated. He listed the feed grain provision and a section adding lands to the soil bank.

Asked if he would recommend a veto if the two provisions were not eliminated, Benson replied that "I really don't know. I would want to take a look at the whole package."

The President and his Republican legislative lieutenants made clear they were counting on the Senate to remove what they consider objectionable features of the bill.

Sen. George D. Aiken (Vt.), ranking Republican member of the Senate Agriculture committee, said prior to Mr. Eisenhower's news conference that he believed the President would veto the bill unless it is overhauled in the Senate.

Fate Of Graham To Be Determined By Colorado Jury

DENVER, May 4 —UP— The state demanded Friday night that John Gilbert Graham pay with his life for history's biggest aerial mass murder, but Graham's lawyers pictured him as just a big liar who confessed to something he couldn't possibly have perpetrated—blowing up an airliner that killed 44 persons.

Graham's fate was expected to be placed before a jury of seven men and five women later Friday night. Two more hours of closing arguments by both prosecution and defense remained to be heard when Judge Joseph M. McDonald recessed the trial for two hours at 5:30 p.m.

The state's opening argument, made by Deputy District Attorney Gregory Mueller, reviewed testimony of more than 75 prosecution witnesses.

Mueller said the state's case, which included a confession and more than 150 physical pieces of evidence, had been fully corroborated by the witnesses.

One of Graham's three court-

Should Increase Surface Water More Than 2500 Acres

Duck Hunting And Fishing Would Be Vastly Improved By Dam, Spillway

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles dealing with proposed measures to conserve the industrial and agricultural water supply in Bayou Bartholomew. The series is being prepared by Morning World Staffer Norris Vancleave who has studied, toured and interviewed individuals familiar with the project)

The proposed Bayou Bartholomew dam and spillway project could vastly improve fishing and waterfowl hunting on the Bayou Bartholomew system, according to a study conducted by District II of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Commission biologists say the Bayou Bartholomew system provides a great deal of natural food for ducks and that duck hunting should be improved by the additional surface water that would be provided by the proposed dam and spillway.

According to Commission estimates, more than 2500 acres of additional surface water during average stages would be furnished by the dam and spillway with spillway constructed to an elevation of 75 feet mean sea level. The water surface area on Cutoff (Bayou Bartholomew Lake) would be increased from an average of approximately 100 acres to about 400 acres. And the water surface area on Bayou Bartholomew would be upped from an average of about 500 to approximately 1125 acres. Some surface water area, but not an appreciable amount, would be added in Bayou DeSiard.

In addition to this, the water surface area of Black Bayou Lake would practically be tripled by the proposed water conservation project and water would be restored to numerous small inlets on Bayou Bartholomew and Cutoff that are now dry or virtually dry. Commission biologists also noted that there are numerous small flats at various points inside the channel wall that would be covered by the additional water and would therefore become ideal for duck hunting.

According to Commission biologists, the attractiveness of a pond to waterfowl results from the interplay of water supply, food abundance, protective cover and the degree of hunting pressure.

Food supply is usually considered the key to attracting wild ducks. Although ducks eat snails, insects, crustacea and fish, the bulk of their winter food is of plant origin—seeds, tubers, roots and vegetation.

Among natural Fresh River Delta plants for duck food found by Commission biologists on the Bartholomew system were alligatorweed, sesban, willow and button bushes, arrow-aram, giant cutgrass, water primrose, lotus, pennywort, algae, waterweed, bladderwort and fanwort.

Swamp and upland pond plants noted include oaks, tupelo gums, cypress, hickories, swamp marshweeds, duckpotato, southern smartweed, duckweed, coontail, bushy pondweed, and variable - leaved pondweed, all desirable sources of duck food.

Thus natural food to attract ducks is there and it is believed that excellent duck hunting would be provided by the increased water surface area that would come with the proposed dam and spillway.

Fishing would be equally improved by the dam and spillway in the opinion of Commission biologists. They point out that the numerous small flats within the Bayou Bartholomew and Bartholomew Lake channels that would be covered by increased water would provide excellent feeding and spawning grounds for fish as well as feeding places for ducks. They also observe that the dam and spillway structure would cause natural restocking of fish in Bayou Bartholomew and Lake Bartholomew from the Ouachita River. With the weir type dam in place, Ouachita River will occasionally get higher than the weir, causing the Bayou and Ouachita waters to meet, and resulting in the natural restocking of Bayou Bartholomew and Bartholomew Lake.

Bayou Bartholomew and Bartholomew Lake are currently in need of this native restocking, biologists point out. Bartholomew Lake is especially overrun with rough fish, such as shad and gar, which are competing with game fish for food.

Commission biologists point out that the northeast Louisiana area

Teenager Kills Teacher; Two Others Shot

Maryland Youth Angered By Rebuke For Being Absent

SEAT PLEASANT, Md., May 4—UP—A 15-year-old boy, who had been rebuked for being absent, burst into a crowded classroom Friday, shot and killed the teacher, and then wounded two other teachers with a wild fusillade of rifle bullets.

The boy was Billy Prevatte, who came here only recently from Raleigh, N. C., where he was expelled for threatening a teacher with a knife. He was captured by police while attempting to flee from the scene of the shooting at Maryland Park junior high school.

The flurry of rifle shots in this suburb of the nation's capital threw many of the youth's schoolmates into hysterics. Several girls ran into the school yard sobbing. Other white-faced students sat frozen with horror.

The slain teacher was Frazer Cameron, 32, formerly of Westfield, N. Y. Prevatte fired bullets into Cameron's heart and head, and the teacher died immediatly in front of his eighth grade students.

The wounded were Dan Wagner, the school baseball coach who was shot in the side in the of-

Columnist Loses Both Eyes From Injury By Acid

NEW YORK, May 4—UP—Anti-racketeering labor columnist Victor Riesel, victim of an acid attack April 6, has lost the sight of both eyes, his doctors announced Friday.

"The cumulative degenerative processes, stemming from the deep and severe acid burns in his eyes, proved impossible to overcome," Dr. Gevalimo Gonaccolto of St. Clare hospital said.

Doctors had fought to save Riesel's eyes since the columnist was ambushed by an unidentified thug who tossed sulphuric acid into his face. Riesel had just finished a radio broadcast dealing with labor racketeers when the thug accosted him on a sidewalk.

At one time during his hospitalization, Riesel was able to distinguish the faces of friends on his hospital room. But even then his doctors feared that the corrosive effects of the acid would eventually result in blindness.

Dr. Bonaccolto revealed that the columnist was blind Friday after a consultation with three other physicians.

"The concentration of sulphuric acid thrown into Mr. Riesel's eyes was so strong that it destroyed the tissues of the eyelids and eyeballs, corroded the tissues surrounding the corneas and degenerated the blood vessels feeding nourishment to the cornea," said Dr. Bonaccolto.

"This severe damage has resulted in loss of sight in both eyes," he said.

Robert Hall, head of the Post Hall Syndicate, Inc., which distributed Riesel's column to nearly 200 newspapers, said that there is "no hope that he will ever see again."

But he said that Riesel's column would continue to be issued. Its preparation, he said, would be guided by the blinded columnist with the help of his aides.

Correct Answers To Morning World's Crossword Puzzle Are Hard To Find

BY BONANZA BILL

The correct answers to the Morning World's cross word puzzle clues were evasive this week, and the jackpot worth $425 was spared.

The jackpot to be carried by the puzzle which will be published next Monday and Tuesday in the World will be worth $450. Here are explanations of the more difficult clues:

CLUES ACROSS:

6. In wartime, the FOE IS a menace. FOG CAN BE a menace, and can be of help in attack and defense.

8. Suggesting a person on (or awaiting) trial, the clue favors PRISONER. Overwhelming evidence against a POISONER will be of no use unless the police locate and arrest him.

21. The average soldier very often WOULD CARE to argue with an officer, in fact he'd probably love to! He wouldn't CARE to face the possible consequences, though, and so, as a rule, wouldn't DARE argue.

Atomic Mushroom Lights Up Pacific Sky To Open History's Biggest Tests

ABOARD USS MT. McKinley, Eniwetok, Saturday, May 5—UP—An awesome pink mushroom cloud—trademark of the atomic age—loomed in the sky over Eniwetok at dawn Saturday as the United States kicked off history's biggest test series with the explosion of a nuclear pop-gun.

The initial blast drove the predawn blackness from the Pacific sky at 6:25 a.m. (12:25 p.m. CST Friday).

It was a miniature atomic warhead device, equalling only a few thousand tons of TNT — puny compared to the hydrogen bomb which blasts the Pacific with the fury of millions of tons of explosive.

Fifteen newsmen and 21 civil service observers, here to witness the first "public" H-bomb test next week, watched Saturday's kick-off blast from the deck of the McKinley, about 15 miles from the blast center.

The explosive was detonated from the surface of Runit Island, on the east side of Eniwetok.

As the count-down of seconds ticked down to zero, a brief flash lighted the sky and was immediately followed by a fireball that blossomed out about a mile in diameter.

A couple of seconds later, a glowing pink mushroom climbed upward.

A minute and 15 seconds after the initial flash, a slight shock wave reached the observers on the deck of the Mt. McKinley. Instead of the sharp "bang" of the Bikini airburst of 10 years ago, this one produced only a low - throated rumble.

Saturday's shot was a miniature, even compared to the smaller test blasts in Nevada. It was a mere spark compared to the hydrogen bomb slated to shatter the Pacific skies next Tuesday.

As the mushroom billowed up to about 35,000 feet it was capped by the familiar ice slick, caused by freezing of water particles in the high morning atmosphere.

Many of the shipboard observers — keyed in advance to H-bomb expectations — were disappointed in Saturday's blast.

The observers expect to see something far more tremendous on May 8 (Monday U.S. time) when America's first air-dropped H-bomb is scheduled to explode over Bikini atoll.

Saturday mornings pre - dawn blast, though relatively small, could be of vast importance to the United States' expanding arsenal of atomic weapons.

This one apparently was somewhere in the range of 5000-10,000

Bossier Schools Ban Look, Time, Life Magazines

SHREVEPORT, La., May 4 (AP)—The Bossier Parish school board said today it has banned "Time," "Life," and "Look," from school libraries because of the magazines' views on segregation.

The school board ordered subscriptions cancelled and back issues removed from school library shelves in the nearby parish. The ban is effective immediately.

The resolution accused the three magazines of "waging a systematic campaign to prejudice the American people against the South by presenting in their columns biased and distorted views on the institution of segregation of races in our schools."

Last month the school board passed a resolution endorsing segregation in public schools.

In one of the schools, Bossier High school in Bossier City, the order will affect a library reference section from 1930 to 1956.

Florida Father Admits Slaying Two Small Boys

PANAMA CITY, Fla., May 4 — UP—A 33-year-old electrician, father of six children of his own, confessed Friday he wantonly tossed two small brothers overboard to their deaths from his motorboat.

The confessed killer, Dallas Withers, made his statement to Bay County Sheriff M. J. Daffin at a secret prison to which he was taken after furious citizens here telephoned threats to the local jail.

Hundreds of persons were still engaged in a search for the older of Withers' two victims, seven-year - old David Wilson. The body of his little brother, Douglas, 4, was recovered at the mouth of a bayou Wednesday about 24 hours after he vanished from his trailer home.

Sheriff Daffin said that Withers admitted he took both boys into his boat for a short ride while he was drunk and later landed in a cove where he molested the older boy.

Then, according to the sheriff, Withers went to the mouth of Cook Bayou and threw Douglas overboard. He sailed another mile and a half to the mouth of St. Andrews bay and tossed David overboard, well away from shore, the sheriff quoted him.

Sheriff Daffin said an autopsy showed that Douglas had died of drowning and he was not otherwise injured. However, he said,

Considering the right of franchise sacred to the individual we respectfully urge that you cause to be investigated, at the earliest moment possible, whether or not these voter disqualifications are wrongful acts, purposely seeking to deny the franchise to entire segments of our population. We fear a local campaign of 'thought control' to be underway, and we urge your assistance in investigating any wrong doing, or any violation of liberty which may be in evidence should our right of franchise be in dagner."

The telegram, which was reportedly forwarded to the Attorney General Friday afternoon, was signed by the 'Monroe Central Trades and Labor Council, A.F.L.-C.I.O." and the "Monroe Building and Construction Trades Council, A.F.L.-C.I.O."

The League of Women Voters of Monroe authorized the following statement for release Friday:

"The League of Women Voters of Monroe, which concerns itself with matters of government and the responsibility of the individual in a self governing country, cannot but express grave concern over the action of the Citizens Council, or individuals purportedly representing it, action which the League fears may deprive certain citizens of their right to vote. The League lists among its principles: (1) Legal protection of citizens in their right to vote"; (2) Protection of minority groups against descrimination.

"The League has always advocated strict registration laws. For ten years it labored to get the present permanent registration law passed and put into effect in 1952. The League feels that if properly administered this law has adequate safeguards against improper registration."

tained a law office with his son in Jackson for many years.

Wright was elected lieutenant governor in 1944 and became governor in 1946 when Gov. Thomas Bailey died in office. Wright completed Bailey's term and was elected in 1948 to a four-year term.

State law prevented his succeeding himself so he remained out of state office until last summer when he stumped the state in a field of five for the governor's chair. He finished third.

Gov. J. P. Coleman, notified at his Ackerman home, said he was "shocked and deeply pained to hear of the untimely passing of our distinguished former governor."

Former Gov. Hugh White, now the only living former Mississippi governor,said he was "distressed" over the news.

During his "retirement," Wright remained active in politics, serving as Democratic National Committeeman, and as a member of many state, county, city and civic committees. He was an active attorney and an ardent fisherman.

Wright led the Mississippi walkout of the 1948 National Democratic Convention in a dispute over the nominees for president and vice president.

Mississippi joined with other southern states to form the States Rights Party and to nominate then Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for president and Wright for vice president.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Nen Kelly Wright; one son, Fielding Wright Jr., Jackson; one daughter, Mrs. Charles Hunt, Jackson, his mother, Mrs. H. J. Wright of Rolling Fork; his brother, Henry J. Wright of Jackson; two sisters, Mrs. Leonard C. Hicks of Jackson and Mrs. Lewis Dowdy of Rolling Fork; and four grandsons, Fielding Wright III, John B. Fate Of Graham appointed attorneys, John Gibbons, sought to picture Graham as possibly an egomaniac liar "who has told not one but possibly 50 lies. . . so many I don't know what to believe."

"Are you going to believe this boy here who tells nothing but lies?" Gibbons asked.

McDonald told the jurors in a 23-point instruction that they could find the 24-year-old defendant guilty of first-degree murder, with or without the death penalty; guilty of second-degree murder, or innocent.

The morning was given over to arguments from state and defense counsel as to what kind of instructions should be given the jury.

The state called 75 witnesses, and also succeeded in having Graham's four and one-half page confession to the FBI introduced as evidence. Graham took the stand, with the jury withdrawn, to refute the confession but Judge McDonald decided it had been voluntarily given last Nov. 14, when Graham was formally arrested by the FBI.

In Colorado, either a witness or a confession is necessary to inflict the death penalty for murder. There were no witnesses to the planting of a dynamite time bomb in the luggage of Graham's mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54, before she boarded a United Air Lines DC-6B the night of Nov. 1 at Denver.

Eleven minutes after takeoff, the plane exploded near Longmont, Colo., and fell on a frozen field. All 44 persons aboard were killed.

Dr. Caskey continued, "The period of peace and quiet has passed. The south will finish the fight and will not deviate from her goal. We of the south are playing this game for keeps. .We will crush this communistic movement."

Among other things, he said: "Some church leaders advocate gradual integration, this a dangerous enemy of the cause. Our southern heritage must and will be preserved regardless of cost."

He said the problems of the segregation of movement in the south were that the south is in a last ditch fight but is divided. "We are not united in the south because of too many fifth columnists and some church leaders."

Collins, Pardon Board Upheld By Fla. Grand Jury

TAVARES, Fla., May 4 (AP)—Gov. Collins and the pardon board were legally right when they commuted the death sentence of Walter Lee Irvin, the Lake County grand jury said today, but it believes the action was influenced by "false" statements and "lurid" newspaper stories.

Segregated Air Ports To Get No Federal Support

WASHINGTON, May 4 — UP— The government, striking a new blow at racial discrimination, announced Friday it will deny federal funds for construction of segregated rest rooms, dining rooms and other facilities at airports.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said it issued a special two-page memorandum April 6 declaring that "where duplicate facilities are provided that are intended for segregated use, the areas involved will be excluded" from federal aid.

The agency announced the policy after it had been disclosed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Negro Democrat from New York. Powell had said he understood it meant that federal funds would be denied any airports in which there are segregated facilities.

But a CAA spokesman said it merely meant that no federal aid would be granted for segregated facilities, including separate waiting rooms, dining rooms, kitchens and similar installations. Aid would be available for other projects at airports with such facilities.

The CAA said that where segregated facilities are involved in airport building, federal funds will be apportioned on the basis of the square feet of the building. Federal aid would be denied in proportion to the amount of space used for segregated facilities.

Powell said he also believes it is "probable" the government also will decide to crack down against racial discrimination at airports already built. He did not say how he thought this would be accomplished.

Legislature To Get Request For Veterans' Bonus

BATON ROUGE, May 4 (AP) —An American Legion leader said today the 1956 Legislature will be asked to consider a multi-million-dollar bond issue to pay a state bonus for World War I veterans.

Dan Kimball, Port Allen attorney, and chairman of the Legion's legislative committee said the proposed constitutional amendment is being drafted after endorsement by the Legion's executive committee.

Kimball said final features of the proposal have not been drafted. He said about 41,000 World War I veterans are still living. About 71,000 Louisianians served in the war.

Louisiana approved a 60-million-dollar bond program in 1948 for approximately 250,000 world war II veterans.

World War I servicemen would be paid approximately the same benefits granted World War II and Korean veterans. Bonuses would range from $50 to $250 depending on extent of service, with $1,000 benefits for survivors.

The 1948 bonus program was based on a beer tax adopted then. The final World War II bonus bonds are now rapidly being paid off from the constantly increasing beer tax revenues.

Kimball said the proposed new bonus program would make use of the revenues becoming available with the dwindling expense of the 1948 bond program.

Earl K. Long, governor in 1948, will return as governor May 15.

Two days ago he reiterated he doesn't like bond issues and doesn't have any in mind. During his campaign Long said he was against bond issues unless they are submitted to the electorate.

The 1954 Legislature, with backing of Gov. Robert Kennon's administration, passed and submitted to popular approval a 10 million program for Korean War veterans. The Korean bond program also dipped into the big beer tax revenues to benefit about 73,000 Korean servicemen.

Kimball said the size of the World War I bonus proposal has not been determined so no figure could be provided at this time.

He contended Louisiana bonus payments for World War II and Korean veterans, plus benefits under the GI Bill of Rights, more than offset the federal bonus paid World War I veterans during the depression.

In 1948 the beer tax was raised from $1.50 to $10 a barrel, a 56.6 per cent increase.

Financing of the Korean bonus program required about $650,000 annually from the beer tax levy.

The entire World War II bonus will be paid off by fiscal 1962-63. Kimball said no new taxes would be required for the new program.

The beer levy is producing about 12 million dollars a year. The existing bonus program uses about six million and the other six million goes into the state general fund for regular state budget spending.

State fiscal officers recently said the beer tax revenue is capable of supporting up to 60 million dollars in a new bond program.

A constitutional amendment would require ratification at the polls in the November general election provided the Legislature approved with a two-thirds vote in each House.

Kimball said other legislative requests being drafted would:

1. Provide representation on the five-man veterans affairs commission for any new veterans group with 10,000 or more members.
2. Grant state civil service employes with veterans status extra point protection in event of job layoffs.
3. Renew the $7,500 annual appropriation for sending musical organizations to legion conventions as a state advertising stunt.

Sugar Measure Debate Expected In Congress Soon

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP) —Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La) said today he had been assured that sugar legislation will be brought up for action next week.

Boggs said he received assurances from Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee that he would make every effort to get House and Senate conferees on the legislation into a meeting.

"Under Chairman Cooley's assurances I see no reason why we cannot get action completed on sugar legislation early next week," Boggs said.

Sugar Bills have been passed by both the House and Senate. Conference committees were named to work out differences between the two chambers.

At the offices of the House Agriculture Committee it was said that no arrangements had been made yet for conferences on sugar legislation.

Commenting on this, Boggs said he assumed that Cooley had not discussed the matter with the committee staff but that it should be no problem to get conferees together early next week.

Cooley was in North Carolina for the weekend and not available for comment.

East-West Talks On Disarmament Temporarily Fail

LONDON, May 4 (AP)—The East-West disarmament talks broke up in disagreement tonight but not without hope.

Delegates to the five-nation U.N. Disarmament subcommittee conference prepared for a bout of backstage diplomacy during the next few months aimed at bridging the differences between Russia and the West in readiness for another series of talks, probably this autumn.

The subcommittee—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada—finalized its report to the full U.N. Disarmament Commission at its last session today. This was the 18th meeting in the current series and the 86th over the past three years.

The Western nations incoporated into the record a declaration expressing their "conviction that a reconciliation of the opposing points of view is possible and necessary."

Official sources said the two sides moved closer together than was expected at the outset seven weeks ago but that the differences remained sharp.

The informants said the Russians showed "an extremely rigid attitude" once they had offered their three-year plan concentrating mainly on reduction of conventional arms.

The Western declaration showed the main disagreements with Russia.

On a control setup, the No. 1 problem, the declaration said:

"The (disarmament) program should provide for a strong control organization with inspection rights, including aerial reconnaissance, operating from the outset and developing in parallel with the disarmament measures."

JERUSALEM, May 4—UP—Israel Friday reported new border violations by Arab "infiltrators" from Egypt and Jordan within hours of the departure of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold from the Middle East with his hard-won ceasefire pledges.

One Jordanian was killed in a clash with an Israeli military patrol, according to Col. Nehemia Brosh, senior Israeli military spokesman. Brosh said the patrol intercepted the Jordanian infiltrators Thursday in the Gilboa region. Gilboa is near the Israeli-Jordanian border, about 45 miles north of Jerusalem.

In a second incident, Brosh said, Egyptian "infiltrators" harvested Israeli crops at Nahal Oz near the Gaza Strip. No fighting or casualties were reported. Earlier this week, Israel reported an Israeli settler was kidnaped and killed by similar raiders from the strip.

Both incidents came shortly after Hammarskjold wound up his peacemaking mission to the Middle East and flew to Rome to work on the final report he hopes will transform the shaky ceasefire agreements into permanent peace.

New Pilgrims

One of the great causes of history-making events has been a surplus population in any one area of the globe.

It has been responsible for invasions and conquests on the one hand and for tremendous migrations—such as to the New World in the past three centuries—on the other.

Europe is still plagued by the problem of areas where there is too little industry to provide jobs and too little tillable land to provide food. That leaves millions facing a dispiriting, jobless future.

Yet at the same time there are other areas of the world, such as Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and some of the South American countries, which need more workers.

A little known organization, the Inter - governmental Committee for European Migration, has done much in the past four years to help this situation. Established under U. S. sponsorship, the organization now has 26 participating governments, and with an annual budget of $46 million.

It has recruited Dutch farmers for Chile's dairy industry needs; Italians for Brazil's new cleared-jungle croplands; and Greeks for Australian farmers. It was even able to help New Zealand, which has a preponderance of men, by sending 1,000 comely Austrian maids to work in the textile mills, at least until they found their man.

In a little more than four years, the ICEM has found new homes for 406,556 migrants. Most came from Germany (135,013) and Italy (134,294). Australia took the most (120,434), followed by Canada (75,539) and the United States (72,261).

In a world where so many problems seem to go unmet, it is gratifying to learn of the success of this venture.

Executive Trainees Wanted

Much has been heard lately of the extraordinary offers some concerns are making to young physicists and electronic engineers. The inducements are indeed fabulous—but it must be remembered that only a comparative handful of men and women who have successfully completed long years of advanced study and obtained graduate degrees can qualify.

There is plenty of career opportunity in less rarified fields of work. For example, Sam Dawson, AP financial editor, reports that retail concerns are searching for young people to "train for executive jobs in the stores of tomorrow."

Retailing is not only growing, but its basic characteristics are changing and becoming more complete. Mr. Dawson quotes a food chain spokesman as saying that this business requires 200 categories of skills in headquarters, warehouses and distribution centers. And he adds: "The same applies in other fields of merchandising—the dry goods and appliance chains, the big department stores with branches." Also, there are fine opportunities in the field of independent merchandising—and in the small towns as well as the big cities.

One more observation of Mr. Dawson's is worth emphasizing: "Retailing is no longer the simple job which grandfather defined as 'buying cheap and selling dear'." The merchant who was so foolish to try that today would be wooing ruin. The American consumer is an intelligent shopper, with an eye to the best in values and service. Retailing is an intensely competitive enterprise, and the profit earned on each dollar of sales is extremely small. It takes top-quality people to do the right kind of job in retailing now—and that's the kind the industry wants.

Russia's Rate Of Gain

Debate over how much the productive output of Soviet Russia is increasing continues. Some think Russia is going great guns while others suppose that any favorable statistics out of Moscow are mere communist boasts.

There are some calculations in the April issue of Lloyds Bank Review, London, which make it appear that the Russians are coming up fast. According to this appraisal, the Soviet Union's industrial output was 35 per cent of the United States in 1950 and is now about 50 per cent. The output of the U. S. gained 24 per cent and that of the Soviet Union 75 per cent during the five-year period.

Projecting this rate of gain into the future, there is some possibility that Russia might equal the U. S. in productive power by 1963.

Well, let it if it can. If Russia can produce enough to give its own and satellite peoples a standard of living comparable to America's, the red leaders will find it more difficult to prod their peoples into world conquest.

One supposes, too, that the rate of Soviet gains will soon level off. When the fleshpots of Russia begin to fill up, the people will turn soft with fat living. That, anyhow, has been the experience of every country that attained ample production of consumer goods on short hours of labor.

What Peace Could Do

The late William Jennings Bryan used to deliver a lyceum circuit oration about the great good that would come to the world if wars were eliminated. Current figures on preparedness spending by nations adhering to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization bear him out.

Records show that during the period 1949 through 1955 the NATO powers spent $312 billion for military uses. Of this amount the United States supplied $252 billion.

This is interesting in view of the fact that U. S. contributions alone to military preparedness of the North Atlantic pact would virtually cancel our national debt.

Deferred needs of this nation include highways, schools and hospitals. Many of the states and all the larger cities are running behind in their public services. The $252 billion would doubtless provide all of them and more besides.

If the leaders of nations would only get together, there certainly would be a material millennium. Their getting together would imply a goodness strongly suggestive of a moral and humanitarian millennium, too.

If, as charged, too many books published these days have unhappy endings, the situation could be relieved by increasing the number of checks in each from 25 to 100.

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

Hiss At Princeton

Undoubtedly the most significant fact about Alger Hiss' lecture at Princeton is that Hiss said nothing that was interesting, startling or even important. He delivered a polite lecture on Geneva with some references to Yalta and added neither light nor heat to either conference. Whatever he knows about Yalta that has not been published, he kept to himself although this could have been an opportunity to make an invaluable contribution to history.

The reporters and photographers who went to Princeton to hear the intimate revelations of an ex-spy were fooled. There was an overtone of scholarship and a whimsical response to questions, but no revelations. They might just as well have stayed at home and watched some escapist drama on television. What they should have noted was that the small Princeton society which gave Hiss rising plaudits at the end of his short speech has nothing to remember except that it did something extraordinary; it brought an ex-convict to Princeton to lecture not on crime but on history and international politics.

Perhaps some professor of sociology will one day invite Lucky Luciano to lecture on the gentle art of dope pushing. Certainly Lucky knows more about it than any academic sociologist. It could even happen some day that a professor in the department of international relations or a student society specializing in this field will invite Burgess and Maclean to come to the United States to lecture on high-class espionage and how not to get caught. Burgess might provide interesting overtones.

That is about all that the Hiss lecture at Princeton amounted to. It is part of a program to rehabilitate Alger Hiss. He naturally has a right to aspire to rehabilitation and it is understandable that his friends would want to assist him. It is also understandable that he should believe that time will work in his favor and that a younger generation, like these boys at Princeton, will wonder what it was all about and not take the trouble to find out. Nobody will get college credits for finding out.

But when it comes to rehabilitation, Alger Hiss will be up against the fact that he has not told his story in public. Rehabilitation can only follow a public explanation of his extraordinary conduct. Alger Hiss went to prison not for espionage but for perjury. In a word, after two trials, it was held by court and jury that he had not told the truth concerning his personal relations with a Soviet Russian espionage ring while he was in the State Department in an important position. That is the record that stands.

It is possible to say that Hiss has paid his debt to society and ought never again to be molested or questioned. But has he paid his debt to society? The problem here is one of morals. Had Hiss been convicted of embezzlement, of burglary, of kidnapping, it would be possibel to say that serving a period in prison pays one's debt to society. But Alger Hiss was convicted of perjury in relation to espionage. It would seem to me that the only way he can purge himself of the offense is to tell the verifiable truth concerning the espionage; otherwise the question will always arise to plague him as to whether he really was a spy.

It is a tough problem because we must take it for granted that Hiss does not believe that he will benefit by blandly announcing to the world that what Whittaker Chambers and others said is true and that he did act for Russia when he was employed to act for the United States. Surely he must be ill-advised that silence about his case will achieve rehabilitation in public opinion Yet morally there is nothing less that he can do, because the record stands and needs to be erased if he is to be accepted again as having a place in our society. Perhaps he does not care; then why did he go to Princeton to deliver an address in his chosen field? Before Princeton, whoever is his agent in such matters tried other colleges which turned Hiss down. Obviously, Hiss does care and does seek rehabilitation. His task then is to humble himself, as one must do, before the truth, whatever he knows it to be.

Seasoning Character

Boys and girls, here is a message for you from one who knows something about your difficulties in this world of woe and rare sunshine. You would like very much to be known as a person of high character, of worth, somebody to be admired, trusted and even honored. Naturally.

This does not come to you as a gift from on high. Like everything else, it has to be earned—which is the bad news. Your character is all your own, from start to finish. You have certain equipment at birth: Your body, your inherited traits, gifts and handicaps. Out of these, you create the kind of person you are to be.

You can be poor, you can be homely, you can be rather dull compared to some of your classmates and still you can be that worthwhile person, the person of fine character, you wish you could be. You can even be handsome, gifted and rich, and believe me, these can be handicaps, too, and still be a person of character. Here is how: Do something you are reluctant to do every day.

We grow in character through overcoming difficulties. When we get the better of a hard problem, we add strength to our minds and characters. When we overcome any difficulty, physical, spiritual, mental, we add to our courage, or ability, our character. Struggle and triumph over reluctance is what seasons character until it acquires the hardness, the stability of oak.

"Susie, you owe Aunt Susie a letter. Remember? You are her namesake and her birthday is coming." You hate to write letters. Here is a chance to season your character. Get out your prettiest stationery and your best pen and begin. You will be surprised how easily that pen moves, once you start. And the after-feeling will be just wonderful.

"John Henry, what about returning that book to the library and getting the one your mother wants? You know she won't be able to do it herself this week, and she told you about it." Oh, you want to listen to the program? You hate going to the library? That old Miss Ruth always has to ask you a string of questions. And "tomorrow will do, anyway." Tomorrow is team day, and you know it. Better get a hustle on and do that errand right now. Overcome selfishness, reluctance to exert yourself, shyness in meeting people. Get going and you'll be pleased with yourself, mightily. And you'll have added something to your height and weight in the department of character and reputation.

Boys and girls, the responsibility is your own. You can make yourself what you will in character. No time like the present.

Lying can become a harmful habit. Parents should search for the reason and put an end to lying before it does become harmful. Leaflet P-15, "Lying," written by Dr. Patri gives advice on this subject. Nixon-Hiss Story Will Be Retold

The father and son act between President Eisenhower and his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, in which each deferred to the other in deciding whether Nixon will again be the President's running mate, reminded old timers of an early comic strip called "Alphose and Gaston", popular early in this century, in which two Frenchmen were continually asking each other, with exaggerated politeness, to take precedence in every matter which arose between them.

The strip has been long outdated, and so has such elaborate courtesy in American politics. Actually, those with White House contacts have long been certain that the 1956 Republican ticket would be the same which ran in 1952. Their view is probably correct, that Eisenhower did not wish to put in the position of handpickng the vice presidential candidate, especially since his heart attack.

Attacks on Nixon from Democratic sources strengthened the President's conviction that Nixon this time should stand on his own feet. His attitude may also imply that he would like Nixon to succeed him in the White House, and to be the Republican presidential nominee in 1960.

Those who know Dick Nixon realize that he has made a number of political "boners," but make excuses for him on the ground that his rise from obscurity since 1946 has been meteoric, and that he is naturally outspoken. That, of course, does not cover the startling — and at the time, dismaying — episode during the 1952 campaign when it was disclosed that a number of wealthy friends had raised an "office fund" for him during his senatorship, ostensibly to supplement his government allowance for running his office.

That the same thing has been done for senators from other states does not excuse it. Just before his recent announcement that he would be a candidate for renomination, a senate subcommittee revealed that his 1952 campaign manager, Murray Chotiner, a Los Angeles attorney had accepted a $5,000 fee from a onetime army clothing contractor, who had been banned from receiving any government contracts. What Chotiner was supposed to do for his fee was undisclosed.

In addition, Nixon has been an extremely partisan Republican, attacking the Democrats as responsible for alleged protection of subversives in government, which made Democratic leaders his undying enemies, but won him the support of the McCarthy wing of the GOP which is still bitter against Eisenhower.

All this has tended to obscure the accomplishment for which Nixon is most famed — his tenancious probing of the record of Alger Hiss, as a member of the House un-American activities committee, which resulted finally in indictment of Hiss by a federal grand jury, followed by his trial and eventual conviction for perjury in denying that he had transmitted State Department documents to Soviet agents.

In this, Nixon was aided by Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana, a Democrat, and Rep. John McDowell of Pennsylvania, a Republican. Nixon and Hebert had the leading roles in breaking down the original denials of Hiss that he had known the confessed former Communist agent, Whittaker Chambers. The eventual disclosures also implicated as a Communist stooge the Treasury official, Henry Dexter White, after his death.

The Hiss case stands as one of the most amazing conspiracies in U.S. history, but President Truman and his Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, have consistently refused to concede the guilt of Hiss and White, even though a Democratic congressman and a Democratic Department of Justice played an important part in bringing Hiss to trial and convicting him.

Some other Democrats have apparently never forgiven Nixon for his part in putting Hiss behind bars, an attitude which most of those who followed the case from beginning to end are at a loss to understand.

Party spokesmen who say now that Nixon will be the Democratic target in the coming campaign, rather than Eisenhower, are evidently willing to have the whole story of Nixon and Hiss retold, as the Republicans are ready to do. On that portion of his 10 year record in government, Nixon can make a pretty good campaign for himself.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Henry is a successful business man, yet bullies his children and tries to domineer his wife? Why? And what can she do to correct him without incurring his ire? Well, the "sandwich method" is our best psychological device to solve such a dilemma. Employers and teachers also need to be very proficient with this strategy.

Case R-348: Henry H., aged 39, is a self-made man who has attained considerable success in the chain restaurant field.

"But, Dr. Crane, he is getting so domineering that people dislike him," his attractive wife confided in me.

"He thinks he is correct about everything and brushes off arguments from the children as stupid.

"Yet the children often are right. But Henry tries to rule by his arbitrary dictation instead of by reasoning with the youngsters.

"Is this a general result of his having made a fortune in business? And how can I handle him tactfully so he is not a dictator in family matters?"

When Dad becomes a family dictator, it may be a symptom of several things.

For example, when a man vaguely senses that he has lost prestige in the eyes of his wife, perhaps through waning ardor, he tries to compensate by verbally laying down the law to all concerned.

Other husbands accomplish a similar form of financial dictatorship by becoming ultra miserly with money.

They refuse to give their wives a penny even for household purchases but insist on doing all the buying themselves, even to the wife's toilet articles and lingerie!

Sometimes, too, a man who has worked hard to lift himself by his own bootstraps, then overly magnifies his success and decides he is a little god who can pontificate about everything.

"A bearcat exterior often covers a housecat interior", is another axiom of psychology that may be pertinent.

The bully is often a person with a weakness that he may hide from the public but which keeps him secretly feeling inferior.

So he domineers to kid himself and fool the public. Such bullying is a cousin to the scared boy's whistling in the dark.

Many child bullies on the school playground thus are guilty of bedwetting (enuresis). This secret may be successfully covered up from their playmates.

"But I am still a baby," the bed-wetter things, "so I'll make the other kids cry, for that will make them bigger babies!"

Thereupon he tweaks the curls of the little girl who sits ahead of him in class or teases weaker children till they show tears.

Adult bullies often have similar weaknesses which they try to camouflage with big talk and domineering ways.

The "sandwich method" is ideal for administering correction or reproof without losing prestige in the eyes of the one being criticized.

"Even your best friends won't tell you," ran an old ad about bad breath, showing the fear that most people have about reprimanding even their own husband or wife.

So Henry's wife should pay him a deserved compliment as the first layer of her psychological "sandwich". Then smile and casually lead into the "meaty" or critical layer by saying:

"Daddy, you have always been very logical in business deals so why don't you encourage the children to give their views and thus teach them to be logical, too? Don't cut them off but urge them to discuss their side of the problem."

In case there is still a little sting left in that "meaty" layer, then inflate his ego with a final layer of compliment.

This "sandwich" method is ideal for employers, teachers and all those in positions of leadership, for it permits you to reprove or criticize without endangering hostility, hatred or obstinacy.

Bobby Joe Oden Named President Of Student Group

Bobby Joe Oden, of Monroe Friday was elected president of the Northeast State Student Council for the 1956-57 term. He succeeds John Earl Taylor of Farmerville.

Oden, a junior journalism major, defeated Jimmy Smith and Hezzie Schonfarber for the top council post in a spirited contest which brought to the campus polls a large percentage of the student body.

Friday's victory added to Oden's celebration of his birthday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Oden, Sterlington Road.

Oscar Cloyd, of Monroe, who was running on the Oden ticket, won the vice-presidency by defeating Nick Lassiter and James Williamson.

Other posts on the council which were filled Friday by popular vote were representatives from senior, junior, and sophomore classes. Two coeds and two men in each division were selected.

Winners in the senior group included Joyce Currie, Virginia Brunson, Alton Braddock and Glenn Tidwell.

Newly-elected junior representatives are Charlene Miller, Barbara Bradley, Roger Robinson, and Elvis "Chug" Stout.

Sophomore class representatives who will serve on the council include Marie Caldwell, Tommy Sue Proctor, Jack Crocker, and Obed Kirkpatrick.

Aged Parents Evicted By Own Son At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 4 —UP— Roy Richard, 46, Friday defended his action of evicting into the street his 78-year-old father and his 79-year-old mother.

He said they made too much noise, were always "complaining" and disturbed his wife.

But neighbors said they knew elderly Anthony Richard and his wife, Julie, as a quiet, "nice" old couple who were friendly to everyone.

Bailiffs summoned by Roy Thursday night moved the aged couple out onto the street in front of the two-story home which the elder Richard built 42 years ago and had lived in ever since with his wife.

The parents lived on the first floor and Roy and his wife, Stella, 45, and their 20-year-old son lived upstairs.

Two daughters stepped in. One, Mrs. Mabel Darling, took her mother to her home at Hobart, Ind. Another, Mrs. Joseph Bierwalters, took the father to her home at Oak Lawn, Ill.

The old couple said it was the first time they had been separated in 52 years of married life.

Mrs. Bierwalters charged that her brother, Roy, bought the home from his parents tree years ago for $2,000 with the provision that the parents could live there rent-free. She said the house was worth $12,000.

Roy said there was no such provision. He said the parents were supposed to pay $25 a month and had been paying the sum.

to have teeth, although in point of fact not every JAW does have them. Every SAW has teeth, so you don't "usually expect" it to have them — you KNOW that it MUST have them. Only certain LAWS are sometimes said to "have teeth."

25. The SIZE of a house can mean more extensive repairs but why "more difficult" ones? Where and how houses are located, that is, their SITES, can easily make repairs to them more difficult; their location, distance to reach, or accessibility, for example. SIDES is not good.

28. If they are not secret documents, there seems to be no real reason why a junior should not be trusted to LOOK them up. It is certainly not customary to entrust a junior with the keys of the safe, so LOCK is the better answer.

29. The required answer clearly costs money. This is true of a PET, which has to be fed, etc., even if you have it given to you. A BET does not cost anything unless you lose, which does not necessarily follow. SET is too vague; SET of what? Also NET is vague and JET is unusual.

CLUES DOWN:

5. "To the eye" favors PEARL, whose attraction is primarily "to the eye." Nice big PEARS are no better to look at than nice little ones and are merely more attractive from the point of view of EATING.

7. OPEN is best. The clue specifies "often," so we must favor the word he would long for most often. At home he would long for what was not at hand — the meal cooked in the OPEN; when out scouting he would long for what was not at hand — the meal cooked in the OVEN. Since he is out scouting only a minor part of his time he must long more often for what is unavailable when at home—the meal in the OPEN.

10. "Orders" (plural) points to DIVER, who may give various orders to his surface crew. Whatever a DINER has, that is referred to as his ORDER (singular).

11. A NOT-so-rich man might pay a lot for a COLT, this being the only way of getting one of the required high quality. A COAT costing a GREAT DEAL would be a luxury only a rich man would indulge in.

15. "The COMMON good" means EVERYBODY'S good, but a KIND man cannot work for everybody. A KING, of course, can work for his people, and the common good.

16. A CREASE, fairly easy to remove from most materials, is comparatively difficult to remove from CERTAIN fabrics which tend to retain CREASES. GREASE is difficult to remove — completely that is—from ANY fabric.

19. SEE is more apt. The act of SETTING it going is incidental, and solely directed to the purpose of SEEING it going—the whole point as far as the boy is concerned.

22. The man who DID it has definitely done something wrong. The man who HID it might have done so quite unknowingly and innocently. Thus DID is preferred.

Joint Rites Set For Two Victims Of Accident Here

Joint funeral services for Mrs. Jessie Joyce Clack, 33, of Oak Ridge and her four-year-old niece Wanda Clack of Collinston, who died as a result of a truck-auto collision Thursday on Highway 80, two and one-half miles east of Monroe, will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Horseshoe Baptist Church near Mer Rouge.

Mrs. Clack and the tot both died of fractured skulls several hours after the accident which occurred in front of J. O. "Red" Willet's Trucking Company office building about 4:20 p.m. The accident sent four others to the hospital all in critical condition Thursday.

Hospitalized at the St. Franics Hospital suffering from extreme shock are Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Clack, parents of the four-year-old girl; Jerry Clack, three, son of the couple; and A. G. Wade, 36, Negro, driver of the automobile involved in the crash.

Clack, driver of a late model pick-up truck involved in the crash suffered a broken arm, lacerations of the head and leg and contusions.

His son, Jerry suffered fractures of both legs, a broken arm, lacerations and contusions. Mrs. H. T. Clack suffered a broken arm and general lacerations and contusions.

The Negro, Wade, received a fracture of the pelvis.

Louisiana state police said that the Clack family was riding in the cab of pick-up truck traveling east on U. S. Highway 80 and were attempting to make a left hand turn when the late model car driven by the Negro topped a hill colliding with the truck almost head on.

State police said the impact was "terrific". The pick-up overturned on the highway and the four-year-old girl was flung from the vehicle, her head striking the right rear window of the automobile, police said.

Late last night no charges had been filed by the State Police.

Interment for the Clack woman and the child will be held in Stephenson Cemetery under direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Monroe. The bodies will be taken to the church Saturday afternoon and will remain there until time for service.

Mrs. Clack is survived by her husband, N. H. Clack; one daughter, Patricia Gregory; three brothers, John Henry Pace and Bobby Pace, both of Bastrop, and J. J. Pace Jr., of Little Rock; two half-brothers, Marion Pete Grogan, of Tacoma, Wash., and Clyde Grogan, of Mobile, Ala.; four half-sisters, Mrs. Mildred Nixson, of West Monroe; Mrs. Myrtle Grissett, of Rome, Ga.; Mrs. Alice Watson, of Bastrop; Mrs. Camille East, of Monroe; and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pace, of Bastrop.

Wanda Gail is survived by her parents and brother; one sister, Pamela Clack, of Collinston; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Clack, of Oak Ridge, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Jones, of Collinston.

en plan and carry out entertainment. There are gifts for birthdays and for Christmas.

Almost any day of the week some of the women drop in on the boys as friends to help advise when needed and problems arise.

Last Christmas a number of private homes here entertained boys from the L.T.I. as guests. Supt. A. L. Swanson has said that the friendly interest shown the boys by these outsiders have been highly helpful in their rehabilitation. This project is headed by Mrs. A. E. Allen.

Another project is visitation in Charity hospital in the children's wards. Here each child is given a little gift which expresses the fine devotion that someone outside has for a little ailing boy or girl. Mrs. H. B. Ziegler is chairman of this group.

Mrs. E. P. Cudd, chairman of Christian Social Relations for United Church Women of Louisiana, says, "These two projects are examples of what women can accomplish cooperatively when the resources and energies of several denominations are pooled."

"Many other projects of a short-range nature have been credited to this group of women over the years, including the successful effort to emphasize the spiritual meaning in the Christmas parade, work for the Juvenile Detention Bond Issue election, and attempts to bring outstanding films to local audiences. Such work has brought a deeper sense of unity and warmer fellowship to women in our community."

The many friends of Dr. H. L. Johns, for some years pastor of the First Methodist Church in Monroe, but now living in Philadelphia as headquarters while he gives entire energies toward the raising of funds for the proposed Methodist college of Alaska, were pleased to see his picture in the News-Star Thursday. He was shown receiving an emblem from his many friends for his excellent work already accomplished. The city of Anchorage, Alaska, raised $750,000 in a few weeks time last year. It is hoped to be able to open the college in the fall of next year.

Lloyd Evans, who is member of the Westminster Fellowship at the college here, has been named secretary. It is one of four executive offices and is quite an honor.

He is a hard working devoted member and this honor comes in the way of recognition for his efforts.

Estelle Sanders will present her Spring Serenade in the Neville auditorium, on May 14 and it will be the usual costume affair and there will be plenty of music and unique numbers. Each year Mrs. Sanders presents these serenades, and always plays to capacity houses for all who ever attended one of her affairs, knows that an evening of delight is in store.

Also she donates every dollar she receives to some worthy cause. Last year approximately $1,000 was netted and it all went to aid a well known man who received a terrible brain injury due to an accident. His hospital expenses here and in New York were extremely large and the funds raised by this program aided him in his extremity.

This year all net proceeds will go to the cause of the Monroe Y.W.C.A., which has been endeavoring to get along somehow after the Community Chest disbanded. This is a really worthy cause and it is hoped that a large house will provide funds to aid the operation of the "Y" in our midst.

The Band and Chorus Concert in which all City Elementary Band and All-City Elementary chorus united at Neville High School auditorium, Thursday night, approved a real surprise for all attending for it showed the potential possibilities of groups like these. Also the program was such as to reflect much credit on the Chorus directed jointly by Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr, Hermione Driskell, and the band led by Miss Jonnie Bankhead.

FATHER OF SIX HELD IN DROWNING OF CHILD—Dallas Withers, 33, father of six children, sits glumly at Panama City, Fla., after he was arrested on a murder charge in the death of 4-year-old Douglas Wilson whose body was found in a nearby bayou. David Wilson, 7, brother of Dougles, was missing. Planes and surface boats joined in searching for his body in the bayou. Douglas (left) and David are shown in the picture at right. Sheriff M. J. Daffin said Withers signed a statement that David fell out of his speeding 12-foot motorboat by accident. Fearing that Douglas would tell on him, Withers said he deliberately spun the boat sharply and Douglas also toppled into the water, the sheriff related. (AP Wirephotos.)

is not now holding its share of ducks because vast water areas to the north and to the south are much more inviting to duck populations than the local area. In their opinion, the dam and spillway could make the Bartholomew system one of the greatest duck hunting areas in north Louisiana. They believe that areas along the system would compare favorably with Wham Brake for duck hunting with the dam and spillway in place.

Improving fish and wildlife potentials have been the primary objects of several water conservation projects in the state of Louisiana. Among these are Black Lake in Winn and Natchitoches parishes, Chenerie dam in Ouachita parish, the Lake Visteneau project in Bossier and Red River parishes and the Bayou Chicot project in Evangeline parish. It appears that the fish and wildlife angle alone would justify the proposed Bayou Bartholomew dam and spillway as a public project.

Withers finally admitted that bloodstains found on his clothing when he was arrested last Tuesday came from David.

Earlier, Withers contended David fell out of the outboard craft accidentally on a sharp turn and that he then maneuvered the boat so that Douglas would fall out also because he was "drunk and scared."

Biologists Conducting Quail Studies In Managed Areas Of Southern Union

Two areas for the purpose of quail development, research and demonstration are being established in the southern portion of Union parish by District II of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

This program began in the spring of 1955. One of its main objectives is to study the effects of hunting pressure on small game. For better study on this point, one of the areas is closed to hunting and the other is open.

Periodic checks for quail populations are being made to note the results of hunting. To make these checks, Commission personnel use four bird dogs. One check is made each fall before the quail hunting season opens and the other is made at the cloce of the season. Thus biologists can better determine the reproduction and kill during a particular year.

Hunters are requested to cooperate with the Commission by keeping data on their hunts in the managed area that is open to hunting. Each hunter is asked to save a wing and the crop of each bird killed in the area. By use of the wing, biologists can determine the age of the bird and whether the bird is of the past summer's offspring, thus promoting the reproduction study. By analyzing the crop, they can better determine what seeds from the planted areas the birds are eating.

The no-hunting area consists of approximately 1500 acres and the hunting area of about 1200, making a total of 2700 acres for the study. The areas are about three air miles apart so as to prevent gration of game from one area to the other as much as possible.

They were selected so as to be of the same general land use, soil types, timber types, and so as to give natural cover of woods to game species. Twleve food plots averaging one acre each have been established on each area. These are being planted in seed-producing agricultural crops such as common lespedeza, hegari, millets, soybeans, lespedeza hi-color, benne and vetch. Studies are being conducted to determine which crops are better utilized and which will have a greater effect on the game population.

When completed, the food plots will comprise approximately five per cent of the total acreage of the two areas. Percentages of food plots to total acreage will be kept the same on each area in order that one crop may not have more effect on game populations on one area than on the other. This is done to assure accuracy of conclusions reached about quail populations and hunting pressure.

Commission biologists are also making studies of the natural food in order to obtain a more complete picture of food preference. Small seed traps will be located at various points on the two areas for the purpose of catching seeds to determine which types are more available to small game.

The long-range goal of the Union parish quail project is to provide an accurate demonstration of what farmers and other landowners might do in order to guarantee a harvestable crop of quail on their own land.

Crucial Texas Delegate Fight Schedule Today

DALLAS, Tex., May 4 (AP)—Texas political fervor reached a new peak today as the state's top Democrats staged last minute lambasts before tomorrow's crucial precenct conventions.

At stake tomorrow is the leadership of Texas' delegation to the Democratic National Convention. Both U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Gov. Allan Shivers want the politically powerful task.

Shivers called Johnson "vicious, vain and ambitious" in a morning radio broadcast.

Johnson called Shivers "a traitor to his party" and "a man with a warped mind" in a speech at Houston.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn started the bitter battle several months ago by proposing Johnson as both delegation leader and "favorite son" candidate. Rayburn, at the time, charged that Shivers has resorted to "rat alley politics."

The more than 4,000 precinct, or neighborhood, conventions tomorrow are particularly important in that it is the last chance for average citizens to have a direct say on the convention delegates who help name a presidental nominee.

Republican precinct conventions will be held at the same time. However, most Texas Republicans have been content in recent weeks to sit back and watch the Democrats scrap. The GOP Conventions probably will act on resolutions endorsing President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

The Democratic conventions first of all will decide whether the Johnson or Shivers faction is in power. There may be numerus rump conventions by minority or majority groups who find themselves overruled by the convention officers.

Conventions controlled by Johnson followers will act on resolutions favoring the Senate majority leader as leader of the state delegation to the national convention and as a "favorite son" candidate.

Conventions controlled by Shivers' followers probably will endorse the governor, who swung the state party machinery for Eisenhower in 1952, as delegation leader. They also will have before them resolutions on Shivers' recomondation for a statewide referendum on interposition and on adoption of a two-thirds nominating rule at the national convention.

Murder Charge Against Woman Accepted By DA

NEW ORLEANS, May 4 (AP)—The district attorney's office today accepted a charge of murder against a 33-year-old secretary charged with killing her former lover by repeatedly running over him with her car.

But Beatrice Adams, one time Marine, still showed no remorse for the slaying of Mack Jernigan, 39-year-old used car salesman, Wednesday.

"I know I did wrong," Miss Adams told reporters today. "Idid wrong and I'll pay for it."

"I feel that I have broken the commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill,'" she said, clenching her hands.

"I feel that what I did I was made to do, in a way," Miss Adams continued. "I guess the reason I don't feel any remorse is because he (Jernigan) did ask God to forgive him and have mercy on him. That's all God asks—that we be sorry."

Jernigan had reconciled with his wife after a romance with Miss Adams, when she ran him down as he attempted to enter his automobile.

Annual 'Madness' Grips Campuses

By UNITED PRESS

The annual spring "madness" hit college campuses in scattered parts of the nation Friday.

Warm weather high-jinks erupted at the University of Pennsylvania, Yale, Rutgers, the University of Southern California and the University of Texas.

The men of Texas went in for the classic "panty" raid, scaling ladders to the windows of a sorority house and making off with 13 pairs of panties, four slips and three brassieres.

The Pennsylvania affair developed into a pitched battle as some 500 students blocked off a busy Philadelphia intersection and hurled eggs and missiles at police officers who rushed to the scene.

The cops rounded up 116 Pennsylvania students and carted them off to jail to await hearings.

At staid Yale five students staged a march through downtown streets of New Haven while paper and debris streamed from dormitory windows and blasts from musical instruments tore the air.

The Yales were charged with breach of the peace attributed to "a mass case of spring fever" on the eve of the Carnegie camp regatta Saturday.

At Los Angeles several hundred USC students staged an uprising on fraternity row, hurling wine bottles and beer cans and setting a big bonfire in the middle of the street. A news photographer was attacked and suffered fracture of two ribs.

At New Brunswick, N. J., six Rutgers students were arrested after a violent water battle between fraternity men and independents that lasted four hours.

Afternoon Party Thursday Fetes Mrs. Charles Petrus

A group of young matrons gathered at the home of Mrs. T. H. Scott on North Second street yesterday for a mid-afternoon party honoring Mrs. Charles Petrus who recently moved to Monroe from Collegeville, Penn.

Picturesque arrangements of mixed spring flowers were used throughout the Scott home.

Mrs. Fred Frazier welcomed guests at the door and in the entrance hall nearby were Mrs. Scott the honoree and Miss Betty Scott.

A crystal epergne arrangement of pink roses centered the dining table.

Of focal interest on the mantel, was a white cornucopia arrangement of mixed flowers which was a replica of an oil painting reflected in a large goldleaf mirror.

Mrs. Leon Sutton assisted with courtesies in the dining room.

Invited to meet Mrs. Petrus were Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr., Mrs. John Mullens, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., Mrs. Robert Wood, Mrs. Harry Bell, Mrs. Thomas Fortenberry, Mrs. William Parker, Mrs. Jack McCook, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Charles Amman, Mrs. Randolph Brown, Mrs. Robert Pipes, Mrs. Robert Carter, Mrs. Joe Dixon, Mrs. George Spencer, Mrs. Jack Terzia, Mrs. W. Music Guild Hears Program Of Modern Music

Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. W. W. Bullock, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Bliss were hostesses to the April meeting of the Music Guild at the home of Mrs. Cretney.

Mrs. Dan Cox was welcomed as a new member.

The program, on modern music, consisted of numbers by American composers, and was presented by Mrs. W. W. Bullock, Jr. Mrs. Al Bankston, Mrs. Rabun Wroten, Mrs. D. N. White, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. R. C. Noland, Jr. and Mrs. C. W. Thacker.

Other vocal and piano selections were rendered by Mrs. Paul Newman, Mrs. P. A. Poag, and Mrs. Robert Bliss and Mrs. J. Norman Coon.

The text, given by Mrs. R. L. Morgan, expressed the opinion that "One never likes modern music on first hearing it, seemingly, because it sounds so strange, but listen to it enough and one learns to love it". She explained that "neither Liszt or Beethoven were appreciated at first, and it was even said of Beethoven that he was deaf so he couldn't hear what he was playing, anyway."

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Al Bankston, Mrs. C. A. Caldwell, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. C. L. Dillingham, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Paul Newman, Mrs. L. C. Noland, Jr., Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. D. N. White, Mrs. W. E. Williams, Mrs. Rabun Wroten, Mrs. Robert Wroten, and Mrs. C. W. Thacker.

Junior-Senior Banquet Use Gypsie Theme

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Dancing gypsies, tambourines, and the glow of a campfire, served as a charming background for the annual Junior - Senior banquet at the Monticello School last week. The school lunchroom was gaily decorated for the event, with a covered wagon as the center of attraction. The guests were seated at banquet tables arranged in a semi-circle, overlaid with white tablecloths. Scattered here and there along the length of them, were gypsy figurines, in appropriate settings.

The entire group of juniors and senior were attired in colorful gypsy costumes. A wandering fortune - teller, Patsy Yates, entertained the guests by forecasts and prophecies.

Serving as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion was Buford Perry. Margie Watts gave a reading entitled "Gippy Gypsies Are We" and Joyce McPherson entertained with "Yippee for the Gippy Gyps." A song and a Folk Dance by the Junior Class followed, to the accompainment of gypsy music.

Continuing in the same theme was a "Pot O' Hot Gypsy Stew," by the fortune-teller, Patsy Yates. Evelyn French with "Story Telling Time," a history of the gypsy tribes, and "Yonder on the Open Road" by Melba Wiggins, concluded the special numbers.

A delicious banquet menu was prepared and served by the Home Economics Department, under the direction of Mrs. Jo Ann Warner.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The women who remain lovely, regardless of age, are those who have lived fully and vibrantly at every stage in their lives.

Accept Age With Joy And Appreciate Its Advantages

If a woman of 50 attempts to look and act like a girl of 20 she is, of course, doomed to failure. She also forfeits the natural charm which greater experience and deeper feeling and thought, a keener wit and a more understanding outlook give her. It is not a question of accepting age with resignation but of accepting every age with joy and with appreciation for the advantages of every age.

Beauty and youth are correlated. Almost any woman who is young is lovely because of her bloom and freshness. However, this does not mean that middle age and beauty are incompatible. Some of the most fascinating women I ever have known have been past middle age. Of course they had a few lines they didn't have before and the tissues were not quite so firm, but their psychological outlook and magnetism made these changes insignificant.

The women who remain lovely, regardless of age, are those who have lived fully and vibrantly at every stage in their lives. They have been fully conscious of the opportunities for happiness in the present and have looked forward rather than backward, always.

These women also have been aware of the importance of health as an aid to fuller living and better looks. They have disciplined themselves, their bodies and their minds. They have realized that they must do this in order to wring the most out of life. They also have been faithful to their beauty routines.

Never before have middle-aged and older women had such opportunities for vibrant living. We know so much more now about untrition, exercise, figure control, skin and hair care. The taboos have been broken down. A woman today is accepted for what she is rather than for how old she is

Don't gloom through the wonderful period from middle age on. This is the time for adventurous and perceptive living.

Campus Revolt

Students Urged By President To Return To Class

HATTIESBURG, Miss., May 4 (AP) —President I. E. Rouse of William Carey College today told a rebellious student body to "leave administration matters with the board and with their president" and to continue with their classwork.

Some 250 of the slightly more than 300 students of the Baptist-supported institution staged a 90-minute strike yesterday in protest of Dr. Rouse's administration.

A spokesman said the disagreement had been accumulating for some time and was not the result of any specific incident.

Dr. Rouse, out of town during the disturbance, called a closed meeting of the student body, faculty and other college officials today in an attempt to settle the disagreement.

He later told newsmen he had "no comment" but changed his mind and said he answered student charges against his administration. He declined to elaborate.

He said he told the students: "It is not the perogative of the students to invade the administrative offices or to pre-empt the powers of the board of trustees. Students should . . . leave administrative matters with the board and with their president.

"Orderly procedure requires that each respect the perogative of the other. I think it is bacis that in the light of a public institution these principles be observed."

The only speaker during the hour-long assembly, Dr. Rouse told the students they should have filed a petition including their complaints with the president's office.

Earlier today, Dr. Rouse said if as many students as left their classes actually were against him, "I wouldn't have this job."

The Rev. L. N. Howard, a Baptist minister studying at the college, issued a statement he said was in behalf of several student:

"There are many students who think the college is well managed and they question the origin of the present disturbance.

"They would like to know the reasons given by the opposition for their dislike. No one will state any specific reason."

Students have denied the rigid rules of the college — including expulsion for the use of tobacco and alcohol — were a factor in the revolt.

Long To Become First Third-Time State Governor

BATON ROUGE, May 4 (AP) — When Earl Kemp Long takes the oath of office May 15, he will be the first man to serve as governor of Louisiana three times since it became a state.

Only Bienville, French governor for 25 years, previously was named three times, and he was picked by the King of France, not the voters.

Long, younger brother of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, became governor in 1939 when Richard Leche resigned. He was lieutenant governor under Leche. Then he won full terms as governor in 1948 and last January.

Long also will be the 71st man to serve as governor, the 40th governor since Louisiana became a state and the fourth man to be elected twice.

Andre Bienvenu Roman, in 1831 and 1839, and Francis T. Nichols, 1877 and 1888, won non-consecutive terms, and Murphy J. Foster, 1892-1900, is the only man ever elected twice in a row.

The 1898 constitution made it impossible for a governor to succeed himself, but an Evangeline Parish lawmaker, Rep. elect Howard Fontenot, says he will introduce legislation removing that restriction.

Only four Louisiana governors died in office—Pierre Derbigny in 1829, Louis Alfred Wiltz in 1881 Henry L. Fuqua in 1926 and O. K. Allen in 1936.

Three, Leche, Thomas B. Robinson and Huey P. Long, have resigned. Robertson was elected in 1820 and resigned two years later; Leche resigned in 1939 and Huey Long resigned in 1932, shortly before expiration of his term, to take a seat in the U.S. Senate.

Lieutenant governors have moved into the governor's chair four times. In early days, the line of succession made the president of the Senate first in line.

But in 1881, when Wiltz died in office, Lt. Gov. Samuel Douglas McEnery succeeded him, then won election to a term of his own.

O. H. Simpson succeeded Fuqua in 1926 and James A. Noe served briefly when O. K. Allen died.

Early Long succeeded Leche and was defeated when he sought a term of his own.

Patrols Seize Liquor Shipments In Mississippi

LAUREL, Miss., May 4 (AP) —Two state highway patromen seized two separate loads of liquor today and last night in compliance with orders from Gov. J. P. Coleman.

Patrolmen Jack Anderson and Merle Pickering today seized bonded whiskey valued at $2,035 from a man's automobile in Jasper County.

They arrested Ferdie L. Moore, 31, of Meridian, on charges of possessing intoxicating liquor.

The same two troopers yesterday spotted two men unloading liquor at a tavern near here. They seized the men and goods. The 85 assorted bottles of liquors and 24 cans of beer went down a nearby drain.

The officers arrested Perry Jenkins, tavern operator, and E. G. Stewart on charges of possessing intoxicating liquors.

Gov. Coleman Tuesday ordered state troopers to enforce the state's dry laws on the highways and to destroy bootleg liquor where found.

Senate Group Approves Own Version Of Road Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4 — UP— The Senate Public Works committee overwhelmingly approved a new highway bill Friday calling for even higher annual spending than the record-smashing measure recently approved by the House.

But the measure, approved by a vote of 11 to 2, would continue parts of the program only five years instead of 13. As a result, the bill's total was only $36.8 billion compared with the $51.5 billion authorized by the House.

The Senate committee went along with the House plan to spend $27.5 billion over the next 13 years for an expanded system of interstate highways linking most major cities.

It also would authorize $900 million a year for the next five years, which the states would match on a 50-50 basis, to build and improve primary, rural and urban roads. The House voted somewhat smaller annual outlays over a 13-year period.

The federal government would bear 90 per cent of the cost of the $27.5 billion 40,000-mile interstate highway system with the states paying the remaining 10 per cent.

In contrast with the $900 million a year voted by the Senate group for other roads, the House bill would authorize federal outlays of only $725 million for this purpose next year with subsequent annual increases of $25 million over the 13-year period.

Since the Senate public works committee does not have jurisdiction over taxes, it did not take up provisions of the House bills calling for increased levies on highway users to help pay for the federal share of the program.

They would raise federal taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel from 2 to 3 cents a gallon, increase tire taxes 3 cents a pound and hike taxes on trucks, buses and truck trailers from 8 to 10 per cent.

In spite of its description as "prairie wolf," the coyote is much smaller than the true wolf and more closely resembles the jackal.

Dulles Outlines Anti-Red Program For NATO Nations

PARIS, May 4 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today called on the free world to marshal its vast moral and material resources in a new 10-year program for holding back communism.

Dulles told his 14 fellow foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the West has checked Russia's advance at this juncture in world history.

But Dulles declared that the Atlantic communist now must map out a program for the next decade to counter the Kremlin's new soft tactics and win over to freedom the uncommitted peoples of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

He said that if the free world stands firm, it could foster an embryonic trend toward liberalism now discernible in the Soviet Union.

Dulles warned that if Russia's trade-and-aid offensive in the underdeveloped countries succeeds then the ratio of peoples under Communist rule might shift from the minority to the majority.

Dulles proposed creation of a committee of two or three Atlantic Pact ministers to work out practical ways for strengthening NATO in the political and economic fields. This committee would report back in the fall to the Ministerial Council.

Diplomatic informants said Dulles indicated previously some willingness to serve on the top-level study committee.

Dulles spoke twice to the opening day meeting of the Atlantic Council which is urgently considering ways to pep up NATO and meet the switch in Soviet tactics.

Summaries of Dulles' speeches before the closed sessions were made available to reporter. Texts were not released.

France's Foreign Minister Christian Pineau laid before the Council a plan for creating a new world economic development agency. It would operate within the framework of the U.N. and help underdeveloped countries.

The agency would make outright grants, five long and short term loans and buy surplus production of needy countries.

The French plan, however, was doused almost immediately with cold water. President Eisenhower in his Washington news conference questioned whether it would be practical for the United States to turn over its aid funds to the United Nations.

Other proposals for expanding economic and political cooperation among NATO embers came from the foreign ministers of Italy, West Germany, Holland and Canada.

More effective wild oat control can be obtained on fallow if a late fall or early spring tillage operation is done to induce sprouting of wild oat seeds.

Commercial hatcheries in North Dakota produced 90,000 baby chicks in February, 22 per cent more than in February, 1955.

FIGHT BRUCELLOSIS

Fighting brucellosis should be a goal of every farmer in Louisiana while aid is available. "Until July 1, 1956, the state and federal governments will bear the expense of veterinary service for testing and indemnity on diseased animals. The testing done in 1955 reduced infection in the state from 13 per cent to 7 per cent. Supporting this campaign means money in the pockets of cattlemen in the form of indemnity and in increased revenue from the growth of a sound industry.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 15 to 50 cents a bale higher in slow dealings today.

Trade and local buying accounted for a steady tone, but hedging and scattered liquidation kept the market from makink progress on the upside.

There were two May transferable notices issued at New York. They were reported promptly stopped.

Trade buying was relatively active in new crop October and December and Liverpool sources were also buyers of those deliveries.

As far as the new cotton export program is concerned, traders were inclined to await the second sale of C.C.C. cotton for a better clue as to that agency's pricing policy.

At the initial sale last week, only 10,487 bales were sold. The average price was 27.90 cents a pound at average location on the basis of middling 15-16 inch cotton. Prices were considered too high in trade and cotton congressional circles to sell cotton abroad in volume.

The census bureau in its final report of the season said ginnings of the 1955 cotton crop were 14,542,040 running bales, compared with 1954 crop ginnings of 13,618,392 bales. In terms of 500 pound bales, the figures were 14,720,581 bales and 13,696,378 bales, respectively.

Stocks Approach New Highs, But Fall Back Again

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP) — The stock market made a valiant attempt to establish a new record high today, but it faltered near the close and managed only a modest net gain on the day.

Aircrafts and oils spear-headed the try for another record, and they had ample help from most divisions, and also from quite a number of high priced individual issues.

Late profit-taking before the weekend, however, was too much for the leaders, and they turned down below their best with the remainder of the market easing in concert.

The best prices came after President Eisenhower at his press conference said that his administration would make plenty of money available for business expansion and he was sure the federal reserve board would do the same thing.

Two members of the Eisenhower cabinet have been critical of the federal reserve policy of tightening the reins on money by raising the discount rate. The action was taken to make it more expensive to borrow money and thus choke off spending that might add to the fires of inflation.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 40 cents at $191.30, only 20 cents under the record high reached April 6 at the peal of a sharp advance that started in mid-February. Since then the market has been going through a moderate and irregular reaction.

Volume came to 2,860,000 shares, best in five weeks. That compared with 2,640,000 shares traded yesterday when the market made a good advance.

The bond market was mixed while U. S. governments were higher.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Pan American World Airways proposed a new low-fare air service on international passenger flights that would be 15 to 20 per cent below present tourist fares and 40 to 50 per cent below present first class fares. Before it could become effective, the proposal would have to meet with approval of the international air transport association as well as the CAB.

Standard Oil of New Jersey declared a dividend of 50 cents payable June 11 to holders of May 14. This is the same as was paid in March.

El Paso Natural Gas announced the 12 month per share earnings were $3.27 vs $1.88 last year.

Net profit of Pepsi Cola Company for the first three months of 1956 showed a gain over last year. Estimated earnings are $1,480,000 equal to 25 cents a share vs $1,170,000 or 20 cents a share in the first three months of 1955.

At the meeting of the American Chain and Cable Company held May 1, it was stated that current business is satisfactory and that sales for the first three months had increased approximately 28 per cent. Presumably earnings were also better in this period, but because the company adheres to a policy of semi-annual reports only. No figures were made available and shareholders will have to wait for clarification until some time in August when the six months figures usually are available.

Some parts of the company's activities are related to the auto industry. The company is now making all of the push-pull controls used on the Chrysler line of cars from changing gears. Management expects this type of button control gear shifting will be adopted by other companies and may prove to be a source of additional volume.

Escapee Hunted

LAUREL, Miss., May 4 (AP)—County officers today continued their search for a 45-year-old prisoner who escaped Jones County jail last night, the day before he was to begin a five-year term in state prison for automobile theft.

Jailers identified the escapee as Oliver William Bruce and said he was convicted in September. He recently lost his appeal to the state penitentiary at the time he escaped.

The prisoner apparently picked the lock to his cell door and to a door leading to the outside.

Cotton Letter

Courtesy of Merril Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane

There was general furor among cotton state senators and congressmen today following the government's announcement of selling only slightly over 10,000 bales under the first sale of the export sales program. They accused the department of agriculture of reneging on a promise to sell government owned surpluses abroad at competitive world prices.

Pressure is now mounting to bring about price reduction on subsequent offerings or to change the program to include a direct subsidy to exporters. The house today passed a new farm bill which rescinded yesterday's attempt to raise the cotton support price to 84 per cent. It now appears certain the minimum loan for ⅞ inch for the coming season will be 82½ per cent. Although the pre-payment feature of the soil bank was also voted down, the new bill includes a measure that would guarantee farmers 100 per cent soil bank payment during the present season if they complied and plowe under excess acreage. Secretary Benson seemed uncertain whether he would recommend that the new bill be vetoed by the President.

Futures were very dull with price changes narrow as the new crops showed small gains. Old May was slightly higher although the large spot firm was modest seller at 35.98. Liverpool was unchanged to off 29 cent points with the old May - June contract under the greatest pressure.

Unfixed call sales for the week ending 4-27 totaled 996,100 bales vs. 696,000 a year ago. Unfixed call purchase were 42,000 v. 86,200 a year ago.

Census bureau reports final ginnings for 1955 at 14,720,581 bales of 500 lb. gross weight vs. 13,696,378 in 1954. The final government estimate last December was 14,663,000 bales.

'What Is Mental Illness,' Question Often Brought Up

(The following article is one of a series written by Dr. George S. Stevenson, widely recognized medical consultant with the National Association for Mental Health)

Perhaps the question about mental illness that is asked more often than any other is: "What is mental illness? Actually, the question should be asked this way: "What are mental idleness?", because there are more than a hundred different kinds of mental disorder. They range from mild to severe; they occur at any time of life from infancy to old age; they affect both men and women and rich and poor alike.

Some of the serious mental illnesses have a physical cause—such as those resulting from a brain injury, from severe alcoholism, from poisonous chemicals or from damage to the brain caused by advanced syphilis. Many other patients now in mental hospitals are suffering from mental illness due to bodily changes, such as cerebral arteriosclerosis and senile psychosis, which occur in the later years of life.

Then there are mental illnesses for which there is no known physical cause. They are called the "functional psychoses". Among these are the manic depressive psychoses, the involutional psychoses, and schizophrenia. of course, it may turn out, when we have done more research, that there is some physical basis for these illnesses too.

Schizophrenia is the most common of all the serious mental illnesses. It accounts for half of all the patients now in mental hospitals. Because it strikes early in life it is called the "psychosis of youth." In one state, of all children and young adults up to the age of 44 who were admitted to mental hospitals for the first time, 56 per cent were suffering from schizophrenia.

One thing all serious mental illnesses have in common is that they usually require hospital care and treatment. And generally the sooner these illnesses are discovered and treated, the better the patients' chances for recovery. This and other information on mental illness can be found in a leaflet published by the National Association for Mental Health called "Some Things You Should Know About Mental and Emotional Illness." You can obtain a copy by writing the Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Association for Mental Health, Monroe, La.

Ruston Lineman Seriously Injured

RUSTON, May 4 (Special)— A 49-year-old Ruston lineman who barely escaped death here Thursday when he touched a 2,300 volt powerline was reported to be in a "fair" condition today.

The man, Clyde McCullen, was reported to have touched a 2,300 volt primary line while installing a new light.

Fellow crewmen said McCullen was near the top of a 40 foot pole when he accidentally touched the line with his right shoulder and head.

The shock tore him loose from the pole and he fell about 30 feet into a clump of thick grass and weeds which partially cushioned the fall.

Physicians said McCullen received electrical burns and multiple rib fractures of the right side.

Monroe Hammers Thibodaux Into Submission, 15 to 9

Carr, Creasey Hit Homers As Sports Bang Out 12 Blows

The Monroe Sports shattered the Thibodaux Senators, 15-9, here last night to even their series before the scene shifts to Thibodaux tonight for two more, and it was the booming bats of Bill Carr and Herman Creasey that brought delight to hometown fans despite some lusty stick work by the Senators' Lou Reynolds.

Carr hammered out an inside-the-park homer, a double, and a single while batting in three runs and scoring three. Creasey tied into an over-the-fence clout in addition to a double, drove across four runs and scored a pair. Morris "Blackie" Millet also got a big share of Monroe's 12-hit attack with two singles and a double, knocked in one run and scored twice.

Thibodaux's Reynolds got only two hits, a three - run triple, and a home run, but he led the night in RBI's with five and scored once to account for two-thirds of the Senators' runs.

Jerry Neal notched the victory for the Sports, but he began to weaken late and finally needed help from Dick Klienschmidt in the last two innings. Bill Bouley, the losing pitcher, was around for only three innings. The Sports were just as rough on his relief, Tom Cook, and it finally took Vince Zerda to quite the Monroe bats although the Sports collected bagged four runs off him without a hit in the sixth.

Vito Marchese beatout a hit to open the game for Thibodaux, Jerry Pierce walked, and a single by Hugh Glaze loaded the bases. Bill Dossey fanned. Lou Reynolds forced Glaze, scoring Marchese, and Pierce came on home when Don Pierce's throw to first in quest of a doable play.

But the Sports exploded for four in their half of the first. Jack George and Bill McGuickin walked. Carr doubled both home. Creasey grounded out, and Keith Mitchell's sacrifice fly scored Carr. Morris Millet singled, advanced on a wild pitch, and counted on Bill Connally's single.

Don Pierce doubled in the second and came around on sacrifice by Neal and George.

The Senators managed a run in the third when Marchese reached on an error, advanced on a single by Glaze and romped home on Bill Dossey's sacrifice.

Monroe shelled Bouley in the third. Carr opened with an inside-the-park homer into left center. Creasey tripled and scored on Mitchell's sacrifice. Millet also doubled in the inning but was out trying for a triple.

Cook felt the might of the Sports in the fifth, leaving before he could get a batter out. McGuckin and Carr led with singles. Creasey brought them in with a clout over the right field fence. Mitchell, aboard on a two-base error, scored on a single by Millet that finished Cook.

Lou Reynolds socked a solo homer for Thibodaux in the sixth, clearing the left field wall.

But the Sports built a 15-4 lead with four more in their half of the sixth. George walked and scampered to third when an attempted pickoff throw went wild. McGuckin walked. A wild pitch started McGuckin to second, an the catcher's bad throw to the keystone permitted George to score. Creaeey's sacrifice counted McGuckin. Mitchell walked and stole second. Millet walked. Mitchell walked and stole second. Millet walked. Mitchell counted on an error that set Millet up at third from where he scored on a wild pitch.

Reynolds hit a bases-loaded triple to bring the Senators three runs in the seventh. Marchese and Bill Stenger were on with passes and Walt Beacham on an error when Reynolds delivered.

The Senators struck back for two in the eighth. Neal was pulled when Willie Quezada singled and Al Mendoza walked. Klienschmidt took over Monroe's pitching, got two out, walked Stenger and served a two-run single to Beacham.

Cards Kick Bums Further From First Slot, 10 to 3

ST. LOUIS, May 4 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals poured across seven runs when the Brooklyn Dodgers defense fell apart in the sixth inning and went on to a 10-3 victory tonight. Ellis Kinder, the 41-year-old Cardinal relief artist, went to the rescue with two on and none out in the seventh and pitched one-hit ball the rest of the way to save the victory for starter Willard Schmidt.

It was Schmidt's first victory and Templeton's first defeat.

The Dodgers played without Roy Campanella, their husky catcher who pulled a muscle in his left leg at Cincinnati Tuesday but had managed to remain in action until tonight.

Nashua Favored To Take Jamaica Top Purse Today

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Nashua, the four-legged millionaire, goes to the post the 4-5 favorite in the Grey Lag Handicap at Jamaica tomorrow despite his poor showing in his most recent start—the Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the big colt's aging trainer, called his unplaced performance "just one of those things," and most of the horsemen around Jamaica are inclined to agree.

This is a $50,000-added mile and an eighth test and will be worth about $38,000, give or take a few dollars, to the winner. That means, of course, that Nashua can't pass Citation as the all-time money winning champion if he hauls down top money.

Citation's bank account showed deposits of $1,085,760 in winning 32 of his 45 starts. So far Nashua, who has been to the post only 23 times, has collected $1,040,545. So if he wins first money in the Grey Lag, he'll still be about $8,000 short of Citation's total.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Joe Jones and Alf Vanderbilt's Find loom as Nashua's main rivals in the mile and an eighth event althought the Cockfield stables' Le Beau Prince, a four-time winner since his arrival from Europe, also is getting some consideration.

Joe Jones will carry 120 pounds to 128 for Nashua. Find will tote 118 and Le Beau Prince 111.

Others in the field are: Midafternoon 109, Cavort 109, Devastation 102, Impasse 110, and Fisherman 120.

Leightweight Ludwig Lightburn comes from a boxing family. His father was a top lightweight in Honduras for eight years.

Reds Turn Bucs Back, 4-3, Via Fowler Hurling

CINCINNATI, May 4 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs eked out a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight behind the six-hit pitching of Art Fowler

It was the second Redleg win for Fowler in which he went the distance. Two Pittsburgh hurlers —Dick Hall and Elroy Face — yielded a total of six hits to the Reds.

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP) — Dick Donovan survived a ninth inning threat and pitched the Chicago White Sox into a precentage tie with the New York Yankees for the American League Lead, limiting Washington to six hits en route to a 5-2 victory tonight.

17 Horses Answer Call For 82nd Derby

Needles Favored With Pintor Lea, Fabius As Threats

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4—UP—This jigsaw puzzle Kentucky Derby began to fit together Friday as 17 of America's best three-year-olds awaited the call to the post Saturday for the 82nd running of the $167,550 race.

Repeating Right, the 18th colt entered for this richest running of the triple crown classic, officially was scratched. The Louisiana Derby winner was injured Thursday at about the same time he was entered at a cost of $250.

Trainer Syl Veitch, after conferring with owner C. V. Whitney, announced that Career Boy as well as Head Man would carry the brown and blue silks of the New York sportsman regardless of track conditions.

Trainer Odie Clelland said Mrs. Helen Kellogg's Come on Red would not necessarily have to have a muddy track to start in the mile and one-quarter tour of historic Churchill Downs. If there is any moisture at all in the running strip the chestnut colt will get his chance to pull off a major upset in the race most thoroughbred owners would rather win than any other.

The weatherman, however, was having as tough a time coming up with a forecast as the thousands of visitors now jammed into Louisville were having picking the winner in this wide open renewal of the "run for the roses."

An early forecast said there was "a threat of showers," for the 3:30 p.m. CST post time, but later the weatherman said it will be "rather nice spring weather, with no rain." The track has been drying out slowly from a deluge that hit Louisville Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

But even if no more rain falls, track superintendent Tom Young, who has been known to stand out in the rain on Friday and predict a fast track for the Kentucky Derby on Saturday, said he doubted the running strip would be fast for the big race this time.

Needles, the favorite, was bred in Florida where Bonnie Heath, one of his owners, now lives at Fort Lauderdale. Jack Dudley, the other owner, comes from Stillwater, Okla.

Pintor Lea and Fabius, the second choices, represent Kentucky along with Reverie Knoll Farm's King O'Swords, owned by Freeman Keyes of Danville.

Sanches, Downey Clash In Finals Of Dixie Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 4—UP—Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and pretty Wanda Sanches of Baton Rouge, La., battled into the finals of the 41st women's Southern Amateur Golf tournament Friday.

Miss Downey methodically and decisively trimmed last year's runner-up, Mary Pat Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., 8 and 6, while pert Miss Sanches swept by veteran campaigner Mrs. Maurice Glic of Baltimore, 3 and 2. They meet for the championship on the par 74 6,312-yard Cascade golf course at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Both Misses Janssen and Downey parred the first hole, but that was the only time Miss Janssen stayed even. With a steady string of pars, Miss Downey led three up at the end of four and by six up after the first nine. She parred an even 36 on the first nine and needed just three more holes to end the match with a bogey on the 10th and pars on the next two. Her total for the 12 holes was one over lady's par.

Miss Sanches' victory was clean cut the whole way, although not so decisive. She parred the first two and halved the third with another before Mrs. Glick was able to win one on the fourth with a par. Miss Sanches led three up at the end of the first nine and had a three-over 39 score against Mrs. Glick's 42.

Miss Sanches lost the 11th to a par, halved the 12th, gained one on the 13th and lost it on the 14th to a bogey five. Miss sanches halved the 15th but ended the match on the 16th with a par after Mrs. Glick had three putted from 30 feet.

Young Golfers Hold Edge

FORT WORTH, Tex. May 4 (AP)—The young guard, minus one, stayed in the saddle in the $25,000 Colonial National Golf Tournament today as Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Peter Thomson, British Open Champion, tied for the lead at the 36-hole mark with 141.

Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., of the first round yesterday, all with 69s, slumped to a 4-over-par 74 and fell two strokes off the pace.

The saddest figure was the Fabulous Ben Hogan, who made his bid for the lead with one of his greatest games from tee to green but was balked by an erratic putter. He bogeyed the last two holes to lose the first place spot he had grabbed on the first nine today and had held through 34 holes. He also bogeyed the last two holes yesterday to fall to take the lead.

Finsterwald, 26-year-old rising star in golf's firmament, rammed down a precious 15-foot putt on the 18th green to give him a 72, while Thomson played a steady par on the back nine to post a similar score. The 26-year-old Thomson recovered from a couple of bogeys caused by faulty chipping on the front nine.

Finsterwald, who said he was playing badly again — scrambling—fashioned his lead-tying round despite a double bogey six. He left the ball in a trap in the sixth hole, taking three more to get down.

Thomson, from Melbourne, Australia, and playing in his fourth Colonial tournament, said he was having trouble with his putting because of using a larger ball from the one he was accustomed to playing with in his own bailiwick. He hasn't played in the United States since last summer but otherwise Thomson said his game was solid and satisfying. He said the 7,100-yard Colonial Country Club course was in excellent condition.

The leaders:

Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, 69-72—141.
Peter Thomson, Melbourne, Australia, 69-72—141.
Tommy Bolt, Houston, 70-72—142.

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Pinch hitter Joe Collins' tie-breaking scratch single climaxed a duel of whirring master minds today as the New York Yankees finally came up with four runs in the eighth inning for a 10-6 victory over Kansas City in a game finished under lights and in the rain.

Back and forth the tide shifted all through the game with the score tied at 6-6 when the Yanks came up to bat in the eighth against Jack Crimian. With one out, Bob Cerv singled and Andy Carey bounced a ground rule double into the left field stands to start the battle of managerial strategy.

With men on second and third and relief pitcher Bob Grim due to bat, Manager Casey Stengel called for Eddie Robinson, a left-handed pinch hitter. Manager Lou Boudreau of the A's shifted from righthanded Crimian to lefty Tom LaSorda. Stengel promptly lifted Robinson for Elston Howard, a righthanded batter. Boudreau ordered Howard walked, loading the bases. Then Stengel sent Tom Carroll in to run for Howard.

As the rain dripped down, Boudreau signalled for righthanded Tom Gorman to replace LaSorda against Hank Bauer, a righthanded batter. But Stengel dipped into the bench again and brought out Collins, a lefty, to hit for Bauer.

Collins sliced a single to short, Cerv beating Joe DeMaestri's throw home with the tie-breaking run. Carey scored while Spook Jacobs was throwing out Billy Martin and Mickey Mantle added the crusher with a two-run single to center.

Landy Aims For Fastest Mile Recorded In U. S.

LOS ANGELES, May 4—UP—What may be the greatest mile race since the British Empire games at Vancouver two years ago was to be run here Saturday when Australia's John Landy meets a half-dozen top distance stars in his first United States appearance.

In the Empire games Landy was defeated by England's Dr. Roger Bannister as both ran under four minutes. Landy holds the world mark of 3:58 and expressed the hope he will run the first mile of four minutes or under in U.S. track and field history.

The race is being run as a special feature during the Southern California-UCLA dual track and field meet and the presence of Landy was expected to bring out a crowd of between 25,000 and 30,000 despite the possibility of overcast skies. The Landy race is being televised nationally at 3:45 p.m. CST by CBS-TV and carried on radio by CBS, NBC, and ABC:

Opposing Landy in the race is a field headed by Ron Delany of Villanova, the Dublin Irishman who has not been defeated this year and has the year's top mark of 4:04.9. The others in the race are Jim Bailey of Sidney, Australia, and Bill Dellinger, both University of Oregon students; Lon Spurrier of the San Francisco Olympic Club, world's record-holder in the 380, and two local runners, Jerome Walters and Danny Schweikart.

Landy cautiously predicted he might run around four minutes if he has become fully acclimiated. He flew to San Francisco from Melbourne only last Sunday. Since his arrival here Tuesday, Landy has worked every day in Memorial Coliseum. He even limbered up Friday on the grass inside the running track.

Eunice, Bearcats Leading In NSC Thinclad Affair

NATCHITOCHES, May 4 (Special) — First-day scoring found Ruston and Eunice tied at 16 points apiece in the state class AA track and field meet here this afternoon, as the title hopes of favored New Izeria and always - strong DeRidder received severe jolts in the 880 yard relay fainals.

The meet, being held at Northwestern State College's Demon Stadium, will continue tomorrow afternoon, with field events beginning at 2 p.m. and the races slated to start a half hour later.

New Iberia and DeRidder, leading the pack going into the 880 anchor leg, failed to scratch in the event as N.I.'s classy Allen Semar pulled a muscle and the Dragon quarter was disqualified for running out of the exchange zone.

As a result, Ruston and Eunice finished in that order in the relay and took the team scoring lead after this afternoon's four final events nine ahead of third-place DeRidder with 7.

Preliminary time trials were held in five events today, with Bossier City leading the qualifiers by getting one finalist in each vent. The Bearcat hopefuls are Colin Freeman in the 100 and 220, John Mercer in the high hurdles, Mel Stratham in the low hurdles and Larry Baldwin in the 440.

In final field events, Jerry Francois of Eunice took the javelin with a throw of 169'6", Robert Corley of Pineville topped the field in the discus with 125'8", and Ruston's Bob Freeman leaped 21' 2¾" for first place in the broad jump.

Cubs Tag Roberts With Initial Loss As Phils Fall, 2-1

CHICAGO, May 4 (AP)—Chicago's Bob Rush ended a 14-game losing streak against Philadelphia today as Ernie Banks' slammed a two-run homer off Robin Roberts to give the Cubs a 2-1 decision over the Phils.

PCC Holds Session Today To Study Rules Violations

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4 — UP—The Pacific Coast Conference meets in emergency session Saturday to consider a course of action to be taken against University of Washington and UCLA for alleged violations of PCC and NCAA rules.

Faculty representatives from the nine schools will convene at the Sir Francis Drake hotel to act on charges that athletes at the two schools have been receiving "under the table" pay-offs for performing on the athletic fields.

Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt has just completed a six weeks' study of charges that alumni at the Husky school had a "slush fund" to lure athletes to Seattle; and that assistant coaches at UCLA have been givin their football players $40 a month above the PCC maximum of $75. (The pay base now has been raised to $100).

It is believed that the Washington case will be discussed first, although the commissioner's office has not released an agenda.

Hector Constance, Trinidad middleweight boxer, came to the United States from England in 1954.

President Hints Massive Superiority Of Navy Air Power Answer To Russia

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that when the "full picture" of America's defense is laid before the people, they will feel better than they have about reports of a lag in long-range jet bombers.

These bombers are just a part of the picture, he told his news conference, and "there is still a lot of testimony to come forward."

For one thing the former five-star general said no one has given testimony yet on what the Navy can do—"the most powerful navy in the world."

"There is no navy that even approaches it in power, and it features one thing—air power," Eisenhower said.

"We have got a tremendous air power, a mobile air power in the sea forces . . . let's wait until we get this picture sort of all before us."

Eisenhower stressed, too, that, "We have bases around the world, established for the particular purpose of using the medium bomber."

Eisenhower discussed the bomber situation in reply to questions based on Senate testimony by Gen. Curtis LeMay, head of the Strategic Air Command, that at the present rate, Russia may be ahead in strategically long-range striking power by 1958 or 1960.

A half dozen other major topics were packed into the half-hour meeting of the President with 190 newsmen.

He mixed an occasional smile into his serious discussions and seemed in good form—he said the doctors tell him he can continue indefinitely on his present schedule of activity, that "there is no trouble about it whatsoever."

Eisenhower wore brown today—suit, shoes and necktie, but his shirt was white.

Among the top items he handled today:

1. Responsibility — Eisenhower was asked whether, if he is elected again, he can carry on the activities he has set for himself. He said he could and, thumping his fingers on the yellow desk blotter before him, declared with emphasis:

"I would like to make one thing clear: No President can delegate his constitutional duties. How can he do it? He has to sign the papers . . . and he is responsible for them."

This seemed to indicate he has been stung by, or at least has taken notice of, Democratic statements that he is a part-time president.

Eisenhower said he might delegate somebody to take action "but I will take the gaff."

"That I have to do, and I expect to do it, and I should do it."

2. Chotiner—The President said there was no reason to believe that two White House contacts by attorney Murray Chotiner violated a presidential rule against his associates submitting to influence.

Chotiner, friend and 1952 campaign manager for Vice President Nixon, inquired at the White House about a couple of airline cases.

"In no case did any connecion he had with the White House benefit him one bit," Eisenhower said.

3. Nixon — Eisenhower told a questioner "I haven't said what the convention is going to do" about choosing a Republican vice presidential nominee.

He repeated "I was delighted" at Nixon's April 26 announcement for renomination.

Arkansas Hearing

NAACP President 'Can't Remember' Any Of Members

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 4 (AP)—The president of the Little Rock NAACP said in a federal court deposition today he couldn't recall any of the group's 600 members.

The Rev. J. C. Crenchaw said he had no official records available.

A list of members and minutes of the meetings may be in the possession of the chapter secretary, he said, but she has been ill since December. If they are not in her possession, he said, they may have been destroyed.

The Rev. Mr. Crenchaw, a Negro, appeared in connection with a suit filed by the national Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People against the Little Rock school board. Attorneys for the school board questioned him.

The suit was filed shortly after Little Rock Supt. Virgil Blossom refused to admit about 35 Negro children to all-white schools at the start of the spring semester. The Negro children, accompanied by several adults, marched on schools of all levels seeking to enroll last February.

In the suit the NAACP asks for immediate racial integration.

The Rev. Mr. Crenchaw said there are 32 members of the chapter executive board, but he declined to name them. He said the vote to file suit was unanimous.

Answering an earlier plea for integration, the Little Rock school board adopted a plan for gradual mixing of the races. It said the plan would get under way when a new high school building was completed, possibly in September 1957.

The Rev. Mr. Crenchaw said the NAACP executive board never discussed the school board's plan. He said the Negro group never received a copy of the plan and talked only informally with Blossom about it after reading newspaper reports of the plan.

When the suit was filed Federal Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith ordered the Little Rock school board to report to him in September on progress made toward integration.

He then permitted depositions to be taken in the case, saying they may be relevant to the sufficiency of the school board plan.

'Green Crusade' Support Urged

HODGE, May 4 (Special) — Louisiana, whose forests provide industry jobs for more than 45,000 and farm income for thousands more, now faces its greatest "green crusade" to stop forest wildfires which are gnawing away at its economic fiber.

"People of Louisiana have been shocked to learn how much of their wealth is going up in smoke and flames of the forest wildfire," said N. W. Sentell of Hodge, chairman of the Louisiana Forest Industries committee.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX —

- Integrity Before Love
- His Family's A Problem

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I enjoy your column and seldom disagree with you. However, I do not think you are helping anyone when a married person writes of a love they feel for someone else and you speak of it as a "cheap love affair." To others it may be so, but to the persons concerned it is not. I definitely agree such love is wrong, but not cheap.

I am a wife in my 30's, married 15 years with a devoted, hard-working husband and two fine children. Four years ago we were visiting friends and I met a man who attracted me very much. He seemed to like me, too, and over the next couple of years we saw each other several times until finally we admitted we loved each other. Events moved rapidly for awhile, then we realized how useless it was. To anyone else our friendship might have been considered a "cheap affair," (though "affair" it never was). To us it was quite different.

What at first was such happiness turned to acute misery. We loved our families and knew that raising our small children to be good citizens was more important than our personal feelings. We agreed not to see each other again. It wasn't easy to do.

That was two years ago; now when I see him occasionally I respect him more because I know he is a good husband and father. What we felt, and in our hearts still feel, was and is wrong — but it is not cheap. M.J.

DEAR M.J.: Never, never have I called love "cheap," no matter what its guise, nor have I ever shown anything but respect for those who resist temptation and live up to obligations, regardless of personal feelings. "Cheap" and "sordid" are words to be applied to furtive, selfish, wanton affairs whose chief aim is physical gratification and material gain. Cheap are the people who ruthlessly brush aside all responsibility to satisfy a momentary passion.

Love often comes unbidden and unwanted; that's something that can't be helped. The disposition of it, however, is up to one's own free will. It can be made a thing of destruction, or a means of attaining honor, integrity and dignity.

For you, and others like you who meet temptation and resist it, I have nothing but the greatest admiration, the deepest respect. Your responsibility to mates and children comes before any personal desires. We need more people with your strength and courage.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My steady beau has always found some excuse to keep me away from his parents and last week I learned why. They're both heavy drinkers and won't work. My friend is the only one in the family with a job, which also may account for the fact that he hasn't mentioned marriage. I love him very much, understand the situation and feel sure we could do something about it together. How can I convince him that I am aware of the facts and they don't matter to me? Tecla

DEAR TECLA: Before you can convince your boy friend of your willingness to accept his family, you must first convince yourself! At present you're overcome with pity and the noble thought that love can brook anything. Will you feel the same way when these people are your in-laws, when they're your children's grandparents?

Think it over. If you are truly understanding and sincere in your desire to help the boy, you'll have no trouble convincing him.
